

Postcards were the commonest form of communication when writing home. But there was not much you were allowed to say by the censors. The silk fronted cards (top) are beautiful.